This course will review major theories that underlie thought and research in anthropology. We will trace the historical development of anthropology as a discipline, reviewing "classic" works of major theorists as well as contemporary approaches to formulating and researching anthropological “problems”. This course should prepare you to understand and evaluate anthropological research and writing and recognize the influence of anthropological concepts and theories in contemporary social science and public discourse. It should also provide you with a basis for critically assessing and using theoretical frameworks to interpret data.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

- Visions of Culture: An Introduction to Anthropological Theories and Theorists by J. D. Moore
- Culture and Public Action eds. V. Rao and M. Walton
- Modernity at Large by Arjun Apaddurai
- -or-
- Anthropological Locations eds. Akhil Gupta and James Ferguson
- The Nuer by E. Evans-Pritchard
- Nuer Dilemmas: Coping With Money, War, and the State by Sharon Hutchinson

Additional reading assignments will be handed out in class or put on Reserve in Gelman Library, the Anthropology Department Office, or/and on Blackboard.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

A. Attendance and participation are important responsibilities of each student. Students are expected to arrive on time.

B. Critical Reading Synthesis Papers: This is a reading intensive class. Students are expected to keep up the readings and come prepared to discuss them. Throughout the course each student will be required to write four papers (of approximately 750-1250 words-3-5 pgs.- in length) in which they will critically review readings from the weeks since the previous synthesis paper. The instructors will provide students with questions/themes with which to organize these papers. Students will critically compare and contrast different theoretical approaches and their implications and examine how anthropology’s theoretical ideas may continue to inform contemporary thinking. Each of the 4 Critical Reading Synthesis papers will be worth 15% of your grade.

C. “Ancestors Revisited” Paper: Each student will prepare a 750-1250 word (3-5 pages) critical discussion that compares The Nuer (E. Evans-Pritchard) and Nuer Dilemmas (Sharon Hutchinson) and that critically discusses how Hutchinson’s “re-study” reflects important shifts as well as continuities in anthropological theory and method. This paper will be worth 10% of your grade.

D. Outline and Oral Presentation: Each student will be required to participate at least once in leading a 10-15 minute critical discussion of a chapter to be assigned by the instructor. Each student will need to prepare a 1 page outline of major points. The outline and the oral presentation together will count for 10% of your grade.

E. Topical Literature Review: Each student will choose a topic that has been of longstanding interest to anthropology (e.g. kinship, race, human development, ethnographic method, evolution, ethnicity, subsistence, marriage, gender, conflict). Students will then choose two anthropological journals (such as Current Anthropology, Ethnos, Cultural Anthropology, American Anthropologist, Man/the Journal of the Royal Anthropological Institute, American Ethnologist) in which they will conduct a historical review of articles written over the last 35 years on this topic. For each journal they will choose to read 2 articles from each of the following set of years 1970-1979, 1980-89, 1990-99, 2000-06—thus they will review a minimum of 16 articles on their chosen topic (8 from each journal). In order to complete this assignment students must do the following:
1-compile an annotated bibliography in which they provide a 200-300 word review of the major findings and the theoretical approach of each article
2-write a 1000-1500 (4-6 pages) word review essay in which they discuss changes and continuities over time in anthropological thinking on the topic of their choice. This final assignment will be worth 20% of your final grade.

IMPORTANT GRADING NOTES:

ALL PAPERS MUST BE SUBMITTED IN HARD COPY FORM—NO PAPERS ARE TO BE SUBMITTED BY E-MAIL.

LATE PAPERS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED UNLESS ACCOMPANIED BY A WRITTEN MEDICAL EXCUSE THAT IS PROVIDED PRIOR TO THE DUE DATE. LATE PAPERS THAT DO NOT MEET THESE CONDITIONS WILL RECEIVE A FAILING GRADE.
